

1111111111We, the undersigned, recognize the importance and benefits of remote work and flexibility, particularly in light of the To whom it may concern In light of the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic, remote work has proven to be an essential and effective solution for maintaining productivity while ensuring the safety and well-being of employees. It has demonstrated its potential to enable companies to continue their operations and serve their customers without compromising the health of their workforce.